Moose Tales: Part I

A moose named Molly

As an "Adopted mother" to many wild animals during the 30 years our family operated the Rumford Zoo, I could not resist telling my story of a moose named Molly.

Molly and her brother were approximately two weeks old when they were picked up in the woods in northern Maine.

Apparently their mother had either been shot by a poacher or killed by a car. When the game warden called to see if we would take them, my husband left immediately as it was a five hour drive.

He returned early the next day with the two calves. Both animals were in very poor condition. Someone had given them the wrong kind of formula and they were very weak due to stress and a bad case of diarrhea.

The first chore was to clean them thoroughly and then attempt to feed them a corrected formula in a clean, sterilized bottle.

We prepared formula, purchased special nipples and set up our special care unit in the zoo's heated Tropical Building.

With the help of my son, Mark, we attempted to give them a bottle and, to our relief, both drank well. The male calf was weaker than the female. With Mark's help we started a therapy used on other hoofed animals many times before. Their legs were cold, indicating poor circulation, so we spent most of the night massaging their legs and not allowing them to lie down for long periods of time. Regardless of our effort, the male died that night but by the following afternoon the female, Molly, was on the road to recovery.

As soon as the weather warmed up we brought Molly to the fenced in yard

Moose head

by our home. At feeding time she would climb the two steps to the door and wait for her bottle. I would be warning her bottle, look out the window and there was Molly waiting patient-ly. See MOOSE TALES, page 8

Events a-plenty planned for Andover Olde Home Days

A band concert on the Andover Common, featuring the Bridgton Community Band, will be held on Friday evening, Aug. 3, to kick off the 11th annual Andover Olde Home Days celebration.

On Saturday, Olde Home Days events will begin with the car show registration at 8 a.m. at Akers Ski. The parade will begin lining up at 9 a.m. on the road leading to the dump and entries will be judged at 9:30 a.m. The theme for this year's parade is "The Gay '90: Andover in 1890."

Trophies and ribbons will be awarded in the following categories: Horses, ponies, floats, costumes, person, and marching unit, which will include any marching group such as ball teams, scouts, bands or color guards.

Other events on Saturday will include a flea market, chicken barbecue, fireman's muster, professional woodsman's contest and arm wrestling. Other events will include the annual flower show in the Historical Society Building, a slide show presented by Alan Fraser and featuring old pictures of Andover. The library will display works of art by Richard Johnston, a former resident who drew many pictures of local buildings, and will have books for sale.

In addition to the traditional arm wrestling contest, games will be provided for children and the Ladies Aid will sponsor its annual food and craft sale.

Saturday's events will conclude with a cabaret dance at the fire station beginning at 9 p.m.

On Sunday at 9 a.m. the Ellis River Riders will be conducting a horse show at their ring in South Andover and the First Congregational Church will be conducting an Olde Home Sunday Service at 10 a.m.

For Andover Olde Home Days schedule, see page 8.

Upton special town meeting tonight

By WENDY D. HANSCOM

The Town of Upton will hold a special town meeting Wednesday, Aug. 1 at 7 p.m. at the municipal building to take action on 12 warrant articles.

At the meeting townspeople will be asked to approve transfer of funds from general surplus to several accounts, including: $7,000 to Roads and Bridges for resurfacing Mill Road; $2,000 to the Landfill account; $5,000 to the Snow Removal account; and $1,000 to the cemetery account to put up a new fence.

Townspeople will also be asked to approve $2,000 towards the purchase of a new copying machine for the town office.

Other articles include a vote on proposed amendments to the shoreland zoning ordinance and to the building code. A change in the shoreland zoning map is also proposed, to change that portion of the Dead Cambridge River between the Mill Road bridge and the west line of the Brooks' property from a Resource Protection Zone to Limited Residential/Recreation.

Also, townspeople will be asked if they want to repeal the town shoreland zoning ordinance and accept the state shoreland zoning ordinance.

Finally, selectmen are also seeking approval, as recently mandated by the state, to accept state subsidies for various town expenses, including state revenue sharing, local road assistance, state aid to education and tree growth reimbursement.

Gilead axes planning board

By CHRISTY CROSS

Residents of Gilead, 8 of them, including the town's three selectmen, the town treasurer, and one planning board member, voted 5-3 at a special town meeting Saturday night to abolish what some described as a troublesome planning board.

The vote means property owners will now have to come before the board of selectmen with their permit applications.

According to treasurer Bev Cor-rineau following the meeting, the planning board, which she said was established by the selectmen three years ago, originally consisted of five members, appointed by the selectmen.

But, Corrineau said, "Every time they turned around someone was resigning." The number of members on the board, she said, had dwindled to three.

The planning board members were

Deane Corrineau, Richard Dupont

and Arthur Taylor, she said.

New up-mountain lodge in Newry tops skiway's improvement list

A 300-seat up-mountain restaurant and ski center will top Sunday River Skiway's list of improvements for the upcoming, 1990-91 ski season.

The new lodge, which will be located on the ridge between Spruce and North peaks, is part of a $2.1 million program of capital improvements scheduled for completion by late fall.

According to Sunday River, the improvement program represents the largest such expansion this year at any northern New England ski area. It also caps a decade of consistent growth in revenue and skier visits at the Newry ski area.

The new lodge will house a full food court, CrisSports ski shop, and will act as the hub for Sunday River's innovative new skier development program.

The lodge will also boast a 2300-square-foot deck overlooking the Mahoosuc mountain range.

Skiers will reach the new lodge by the lifts serving either adjacent peak, or by taking the three-mile trail from

Barker Mountain.

Other improvements scheduled at the skiway include a new dual format race arena which will be added to Sunday River's Monday Mourning trail.

The race arena, sponsored by Subaru, will accommodate dual race courses, allowing for head-to-head challenges,

as well as NASTAR races to take place

simultaneously.

The arena will be a permanent facility, open to the public for single or dual racing, and will include a permanent start shack and finishing ring, split-second electronic timing equipment, flexible slalom and giant slalom courses, with computerized finish

results available on a large display board.

Continuing its commitment to snow and trail maintenance, Sunday River, will add six new Piston Bulls (PB 240's) to its grooming fleet.

In addition, Sunday River will add

20 percent more compressed air and water to expand its snowmaking system. Sunday River will also add snowmaking to Downhill and Grand Rapids trails to bring snowmaking coverage to over 93 percent of the mountain.

According to Sunday River, sales have grown an unprecedented 1,430

percent in the last seven years opposite a $50 million investment directly into mountain facilities.

Sanding Brook status central to affordable housing drainage

By CHRISTY CROSS

Is Bethel's Sanding Brook, between Paradise Road and Mason Street, a stream? Or is it a ditch, part of the town's storm drain system?

The determination has a lot of bearing on Gleichman & Company's design for their proposed Bethel Park Apartments project, according to company architect John Morris.

Meanwhile, the sump pump in the cellar of Merton Brown's Broad Street house abutting the project site keeps pumping, albeit on an on and off basis.

And other abutters and village residents are raising other questions, such as:

- The project's part in the town's Community Block Grant application;
- The need for affordable housing in Bethel;
- The impact of increased traffic on Mason Street; and
- The impact on the town's Broad Street historic district.

Gleichman & Company proposes to build a 48-unit affordable housing project on the site in question, a seven-to-

SUMMER SCHOOL—Chapter I Summer School students Erika and Ashley Kenyon, Anna Cohen, Robert Bean, David Ojeda and George Day gather around E. Merrill's tombstone at the Andover Cemetery. The students, who went to the cemetery to see the grave of Mollycckett, later visited the home of E. Merrill's descendants, also in Andover.

Chapter I summer school wraps up local history course

An old fashioned school picnic field day ended the three-week summer school sponsored cooperatively for Chapter I, ESSEA, and Chapter I, Follow the Child students in SAD #44.

More than 60 students, brothers, sisters, parents and grandparents gathered at Stony Brook Recreation and Campground July 26, for the final event of a curriculum focused on hands-on experiences to learn more about Oxford County history, customs, places and people.

The day began with making "homemade" ice cream, right from cracking the first egg to the last crank. While each of three groups had a turn at the pool under the supervision of Allison Davis, Sandra Withey and their teacher, as well as their parent-volunteers and guests; one group worked the ice cream supervised by Stony Brook's Shirley Powell and Nathan Bean; and the third group enjoyed snack and story break with cookies made by the Ethel Bisset group.

"Ox-Cart Man" by Donald Hall and Barbara Cooney was most popular and some got to hear Steven Kellogg's "Paul Bunyan," carrying out themes of the summer.

Following a turn at sack racing and potato races, all of the students trooped to the bean-hole to watch the unearthing of the main dish: beanhole beans prepared by chef, Bruce Powell. Stuart's classes from Andover and Woodstock were in charge of serving the beans, helping with preparation of potato salad, while Shimamura's group assisted with serving hotdogs, rolls and lemonade.

The iron bean kettle was scraped to the bottom, the last lemonade drained; and only two hotdogs, a bit of salad and a few celery sticks remained when the ice cream—in four delicious flavors—was opened: strawberry, chocolate chip, peanut butter cup and vanilla.

All hands turned to in policing the area before the closing program under the canopy.

Charlotte Cole of Greenwood, with her guitar and harmonica, offered some of the old favorite selections she plays for skunk-ins, Granges and others since her retirement, and accompanied group singing.

The classes responded with songs they have been learning, such as Old Dan Tucker. Samples of summer experiences were shown in pictures and sentences by the EBS group and journal readings from the Andover group. Visits to the Merrill/Chandler home in Andover, the old Gaol in Paris Hill, the Sunday River Covered Bridge, Sunday River School, the Casket Factory at South Woodstock and Isham's farm were some of those recalled in words or pictures.

In closing, teachers, Jolene Shimamura and Melanie Ellsworth of Bethel and Carol Stuart of Andover and Woodstock, issued certificates of participation to their students and certificates of appreciation to some of the many adults who have made this a very special summer.

Natalie Timberlake, coordinator, expressed appreciation and encouragement to the parents who joined in the event. She noted that there was an unusually high number of students having perfect attendance. She said that this is the third in a three-year cycle of summer programs about Bethel and the first was about how families live and work in the county and in coastal Maine; the second, about the county's mineral treasures.

Opinions

What's the difference?

Gleichman & Company of Portland is planning to build a 48-unit affordable apartment project on a seven-acre lot behind Broad Street in Bethel.

Several people, primarily people whose property abuts the proposed building site and people whose property is in the general neighborhood, have expressed a number of concerns with the project, including:

1. Drainage, particularly as it relates to Sanding Brook, which runs across the property.
2. Increased traffic on Mason Street.
3. The impact on Bethel's historic district.
4. The need for affordable housing at all in Bethel.

The concerns are valid, of course. Questions need to be asked; they will be asked. That's why there is a public hearing process. That's why planning board meetings are open to the public.

And, given all that we hear about Gleichman projects, the company will, if possible and financially feasible, adjust its plans to meet the voiced concerns.

But a concern that hasn't been voiced, a concern that we'd bet underlies not all, but many of the voiced concerns is: We don't want a project full of low to moderate income families with kids in our neighborhood.

No, we're not certain. But we hear that there wasn't this same outcry against the Bethel House project or Sudbury Village, both in Bethel's village area. Indeed, Sudbury Village is little more than a stone's throw from the site proposed for Bethel Park Apartments.

So what's the difference? It seems that low to moderate income families with kids is the difference.

For obvious reasons, that's a difficult concern to give voice to. But there it is.

Letters to the editor

TO DEFINE 'PROGRESS'

To the Editor:

At the July 18 meeting of the Planning Board, abutters to the proposed Twitchell Brook Shopping Center were accused of being in opposition to progress. It is my opinion that we need to define the word progress as we see it.

At this moment in time it would seem that for thinking, concerned adults progress would mean doing all that we can to preserve the earth as it has been given to us. We are struck with horror at the cutting of virgin redwood forests on the west coast, the decimating of rain forests to our south, but set by and complementarily allow "in the name of progress" the establishment of a shopping center in the midst of a clear brook, native pines and animals indigenous to the area. I do not believe this is "progress."

We refer to people who construct such buildings as developers. In my opinion, they are developers, despoiling the very areas that our school children came to honor in their wonderful Earth Day Program.

It was at this very touching ceremony that the Rev. Bass asked all present to embrace and protect not only our tiny segment here in Bethel but also all the earth as far as our thoughts could reach.

Many of us who live in Bethel are "from away" and find it disappointing and frightening that the very things that attracted us to Bethel could well be destroyed in the name of progress. This is the very progress we fled. Do we honestly believe that asphalt is more beautiful and more necessary than beds of pine needles and wild flowers, that lamp posts can replace pine trees or that automobiles are suitable replacements for deer and moose? Does progress mean destroying what we cannot replace?

If malls are to be built, let them be constructed in areas already cleared for commercial purposes, and there are several sites available on Route 2.

This portion of the earth has been committed to our care. Let us think long and hard on our own definitions of progress and how we will define it for future generations who have entrusted us with their heritage—Bethel—the earth.

HOW IS AFFORDABLE HOUSING POSSIBLE?

To the Editor:

Many seem to think that affordable housing should be made available in Bethel.

Will some one tell me how that would be possible in this town? Taxes are going up every year and sewer bills are going up more often.

Folks in town seem to be able to find a place to live.

How can anyone rent apartments cheap and pay the taxes and sewer bills we have in this town?

Maybe we need more affordable groceries. Of course, we need another grocery store in town, then maybe prices would be lower so many of us would not have to go out of town to do the greater part of our grocery shopping. Another thing this town might work on is affordable taxes and sewer usage.

For skiers bringing their own food with them as one person said, then how come one is apt to get trampled by skiers if he goes to buy a loaf of bread or a jug of milk during the winter months.

What we do not need are any more condos. In fact, we do not need what we now have. We were told that when this mess started, "Oh, your taxes would go down because of the increased valuation." As every taxpayer knows, the taxes did not go down.

CLASS OF 1980 REUNION

To the Editor:

Telstar's class of 1980 will hold its reunion celebration this weekend, Aug. 4.

The first gathering will be a family-style picnic at John Kimball's house on Songo Pond. The hours are 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. There is a beach for swimming and grills will be available.

The evening celebration, for adults, will be held at Bump's Pub, Sunday River, from 8-12 p.m. The price for ad-

The paragraph should have read: Thirty of those 40 units have been sold, according to town records. No units have been recorded on the town books as having been sold since the thirtieth sale in late November, 1989.

We apologize for the errors.

CHAPTER I SUMMER SCHOOL

To the Editor:

Another Chapter I Summer School has come and gone. Each year, I feel very appreciative of the support it has received. This third summer has been even more exceptional in that regard.

We have heard a lot about "Maine Street '80." To me this means a celebration of life in Maine, to share with our neighbors and others those things we value in our daily lives and heritage in whatever corner of the state we are.

As I have worked in the area school system in some way for most of the last 30 years, I have been struck by this, that each child and family has a history, but many of them know little of the way those individual histories and prides link with the personal worlds of their peers, or with generations up or down.

This summer has helped to connect some of those links. Young children have listened to the daring tale of the four prisoners who tried to escape from the old county jail at Paris Hill—the three who made it and the fourth who stuck in the hole—told by librarian, Ursula Swift, with the same rapt attention they gave to college student Nathan when he taught them how to freeze ice cream.

They have experimented with a drop-spindle under the eyes of parent Althea Stevens; woven on a box loom with SAD #44 director, Audrey Brooke; watched machinery driven by water power for several generations of the Andrews family at South Woodstock; checked out their local Historical Societies; at Woodstock with the Billings family; at Andover with Beverly Swan; and at Bethel with Dr. Stanley Howe, Margaret Davis and Persis Post; heard a first hand account about the Rumford Corner/Rumford Point Ferry from their bus driver, Bob Hutchins; visited a two century old home in Andover complete with an attack escape route; experienced the old-time school house at Sunday River; toured the Irish Neighborhood and learned some personal facts about it from descendant and still resident there, Raymond Harrington; had a first hand preview of Woodstock's 175th birthday party from celebration chairperson, Pamela House.

These are only a few of the experiences these students and their adult chaperones and teachers have had this past few weeks.

I want to express appreciation to all who have made this such a special summer. In the beginning, in LBJ's presidency, legislation made special programs for culturally disadvantaged students possible. Successive congresses have kept alive the program we call Chapter I and a sister-program called Follow the Child, directed toward handicapped learners.

I thank the parents who encouraged the undertaking of the Oxford County idea back in 1988. I thank administrators of Chapter I in Augusta for approving our Summer Program; Ann Holt, administrator of Follow the Child funds; and my superintendent, Dewaine Craig, for the green light.

Then, I thank three exceptional professionals in our school system who assumed the teaching reins: Carol Stuart, her third year; and Jolene Shimamura and Melanie Ellsworth who have previously been colleagues on Special Education/Chapter I staff.

We pooled ideas, then each volunteered to make certain contacts, to assume parts of the whole responsibility; but, especially, they took the responsibility to become learners.

As we planned together for these programs in three different towns and two congregated field trips our needs for success impacted other departments in our system: we would need instructional spaces and toilet facilities during the all-too-short summer season for grounds and buildings staff; we would need special runs from our transportation department during their overhaul, clean, repair and vacation time; we would need books from our school libraries.

Bruce Powell, Sonny Blake and Burnie Rice, Bob, Junior, Kelly, Paul, Art and others, have made it look easy.

On the enrollment forms, I asked for parents to volunteer to ensure that children could make the most of the experiences. The response was fine: Althea Stevens, Rebecca Shaw, Marilyn Swan, JoAnn Korhonen, Sandra Withey at Bethel; Bertha Grover, Mrs. Sumner, Ms. Kemp at Woodstock; and Bibbi Downs and Kelly Emerson at Andover were among the faithful as well as older and former students, Keith Stevens, Jennifer Stevens and Naomi Bean.

Despite swimming lessons, church, scout and conservation camps, parents managed to get their children to classes—some, 100 percent of the time—and to pick them up pretty promptly—not always so simple.

And then, there are the contributors who are known only to us, individually, as they gave us smatterings, or lashings, of information and suggested contacts: such as Frank Worcester of Andover, who delayed a supper hour to give me a proper background on the Androscoggin Ferries; or Mary Tripp, who opened the Sunday River School, and Geraldine Howe who did the same at Middle Intervale Church, Or, at Andover, the friend of a friend of a friend who enabled our visit to the Chandler House.

And, finally, our special appreciation to the Powell family at Stony Brook Recreation area who made our final field day inimitable.

When I experience the interest of our larger community, of all ages, in sharing its cultural riches with our students, I get goose-bumps. And we have scarcely grazed the surface. I wish so much it could be felt among us all year long.

Andover resolves property transfer questions

By BARBARA ADAMS

Andover treasurer Alex LeGault told selectmen at their meeting July 24 that a number of problems in regard to real estate transfers needed to be rectified before tax bills are prepared.

The main problem, according to LeGault, involves property transfers written in terms other than acreage, making the exact amounts of land involved unclear.

At LeGault's urging, the selectmen met Wednesday night in their capacity as Board of Assessors and worked out the discrepancies prior to the data being entered into computer tax records.

In other business, the selectmen voted to amend a fire truck article for the warrant for the special town meeting, scheduled for Aug. 14.

As submitted by Fire Chief Ken Dixon, the original article read, "To see if the town will authorize the fire chief, with concurrence of the selectmen, to purchase a used tanker/pump should one become available from the new fire truck account."

The selectmen amended the article to read, "To see if the town will authorize a committee of three people to be approved by the Board of Selectmen, and including Fire Chief Ken Dixon, to purchase a use tanker/pumper should one become available, with the concurrence of the selectmen, from the new fire truck account."

The amount in the new fire truck account totals approximately $43,000, according to LeGault.

Also concerning the special town meeting warrant, the selectmen approved an article from Recreation Committee members Sharon Hutchins and Trudy Akers seeking an additional $500 for winter projects. The committee will be asked to specify the exact plans for the amount at the special town meeting.

The selectmen also approved an article seeking money for a used police cruiser, in an "amount not to exceed $1,000."

Yet to be determined is the cost of, and subsequent amount requested, to be appropriated for an article for a drug abuse program to be presented at Andover Elementary School. The warrant will be completed by the July 31 selectmen's meeting for their approval.

The selectmen voted that all future vouchers in amounts exceeding $3,000 are to be approved and signed by the entire board rather than by one selectman.

Approved at Tuesday's meeting were vouchers for Del LaPerle, who has renovated seven rows of gravestones in Woodlawn Cemetery at a cost of $5,000 and one for $5,580 for Michael Austin's revaluation of Andover personal property.

Community Energy and excavator Steve Swasey are re-routing sewer lines at the town office this week in preparation for sewer replacement and the possibility of a future addition to the town office.

John Shaw has completed a fire inspection at the Town Hall, noting the lack of two exit signs and a light switch plate.

Town attorney Curtiss Weber requested a postponement of the Board of Property Tax Review's hearing of MCT's appeal of their 1989 tax assessment, due to a prior court commitment.

The selectmen were notified that the wastewater disposal system at Dave's Store does not comply with the state code. Plumbing inspector Bill Thorpe will investigate.

Town Administrative Assistant Rebecca Schachter has asked the Maine Municipal Association to determine whether Del LaPerle, a stonemason, is an independent contractor or town employee when he does stone renovation in the cemetery.

LaPerle presented the town with a release from liability form, but the selectmen question whether he should be covered under the town's workers' compensation insurance in future jobs for the town.

Schachter said the MMA will notify the board of its determination.

Area police report

Bethel

On Friday, July 27 at 11:03 a.m. a Middle Intervale Road resident called, requesting that 'Children Playing' signs be erected north of the Raymond Buck farm on her road because, she said, south bound visibility is poor and because people are speeding in that area. Police agreed to notify the town manager of the request.

At 11:10 a.m. an employee at a local business reported her wallet and some money had been stolen from her purse while she was at work.

At 1:12 p.m. a Main Street business person reported a hit-and-run (property damage only) accident on Main Street. Police determined the accident caused less than $500 in damage and, therefore, need not be reported.

On Thursday, July 26 at 10:16 p.m. a Route 2 couple reported seeing a prowler at their residence. Police searched the area and found no one.

At 5:26 p.m. police responded to a call from the Oxford County Sheriff's Office (OXSO), reporting a motorcycle accident on Route 232. The accident proved to be in Woodstock. Bethel police stood by until a deputy arrived.

At 7:58 a.m. a Sunday River Road resident reported a number of recreation vehicles parked in the Great American Ski Shop parking lot. Police counted 14 vehicles, which had apparently been there overnight. The vehicles left without incident.

On Wednesday, July 25 at 3:50 p.m. a Chandler Hill Road resident reported she had lost her camera, perhaps on Mollykett Day, right after the parade. She said she may have left it on top of her car.

At 3:05 p.m. an Eden Ridge resident reported people walking and driving all around Eden Ridge, apparently looking at the unsold condominium units coming up for public auction.

On Tuesday, July 24 at 6:43 p.m. police received a report that tools and equipment had been stolen from a building site on Chandler Hill; also, that someone had written obscenities on the walls of the building's foundation. The tools were returned on Wednesday.

At 9 a.m. police assisted a person on the Flat Road who had locked her keys in her car.

On Monday, July 23 at 9:54 p.m. a Broad Street resident reported seeing an open door at a Church Street business.

At 10:34 a.m. a NorthWest Bethel Road resident reported a suspicious vehicle driving up and down the road, occasionally stopping. Police found two men who said they were looking for a remote control model airplane which had crashed in the area the previous day.

On Sunday, July 22 at 9:30 p.m. a Spring Street resident reported a loud crowd gathered at the skateboard ramp behind the Bethel Inn Conference Center.

At 8:56 p.m. a Bethel resident reported that, while parked in a parking lot on Summer Street, a rider and horse had attempted to pass between her car and another car. While between the vehicles, the horse apparently became scared and kicked the fender of one car, doing approximately $300 worth of damage.

At 8:10 p.m. while on patrol, police discovered three men, one from Toronto and two from Washington, D.C., camping at Telstar, at the upper athletic field. School Superintendent Dwayne Craig said it was okay for them to stay there as long as they did not start a fire and left the area clean.

On Saturday, July 21 at 10 p.m. a Bryant Pond resident reported that while driving to Bethel on the Sunday River Road she had picked up a female hitch-hiker who, on route, started yelling and became violent. She said the hitch-hiker got out of the car when she stopped it in Newry.

At 9 p.m. an Andover girl turned in a pair of pink earrings and $1.24 she had found on the ground at the Common.

At 1:06 a.m. police received a report that an undetermined amount of lumber had been stolen from a Route 2 business.

On Friday, July 20 at 8:08 p.m. an Elm Street resident reported a large group of kids behind the Bethel House.

Maine reports high acidic rain in June

Maine was among 14 states reporting the most acidic rain on average during June with a pH value of less than 4.0, according to a volunteer monitoring effort by the National Audubon Society that includes tests in Wilton, Jefferson, Wiscasset and Friendship.

The Citizens Acid Rain Monitoring Network reports that acid rain with a pH of 5.0 or below fell in 26 states in June. States joining Maine with an average pH of less than 4.0—at least 10 to 30 times more acidic than normal rain—include Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, New Jersey, Maryland, West Virginia, Virginia, North Carolina, Indiana and Alabama.

According to Audubon, the pH of rainfall in unpolluted parts of the United States ranges from above 5.0 to 5.6. Precipitation with a pH of 5.0 or lower is almost always caused by air pollution stemming from manmade sources.

Waste recycling expansion planned

Al Soule, president of the Norway-Paris Solid Waste Corporation, told the Planning Board Tuesday night the agency would like to expand its recycling building in order to process and sell materials.

The pre-application meeting was held to discuss specific plans for constructing a new 6,000 square foot building that would be attached to the present facility at the town waste transfer station.

"It costs about as much to handle recyclables as we get out of it," Soule explained to the board.

He said NPSW has outgrown the existing recycling building erected in 1983 and it is now a break-even operation. He said the corporation is looking to expand the types of recyclable materials it can handle and sell.

The new building will be a processing area for 12 other towns in the county. Collection centers for paper, cardboard and plastic will be built in seven locations for those 12 towns and when containers are full the materials will be sold at market.

The NPSWS applied for a $96,000 Capital Investment Grant from the state's Maine Waste Management Agency and received $91,991 this year for a recycling program, Soule told the board. The grant is designed to cover 75 percent of the startup costs with the recipients kicking in the remaining 25 percent. As a result, the corporation's share will be slightly more than $39,000, Soule said Thursday.

Tally-Ho members try out for Big E

WEST PARIS—Seven members and four leaders of the Tally-Ho 4-H Horse Club traveled to Skowhegan for the state tryouts for the 4-H horse team this month. The team will compete at the Big E in West Springfield, Mass., in September.

Audrey Foster of West Paris, Shelley Brackett of South Paris, Tami Wetmore of Casco, Kim Wyman of Norway and Joanna Otterson of South Paris, and their horses tried out for the 20-member team. Trisha Jack and Lisa Keene of Buckfield went as groomers to help the five participants get ready for showing.

Leaders Jean Foster, a member of the State Horse Committee, Dick Wyman, Bonnie Wetmore and Kay Daniels accompanied these members. 4-H'ers earn a place on the team by competing in five areas: Record sheets (50 points), written test (100 points), fitting and showmanship (100 points), equitation (100 points) and barn management (50 points).

The top 20 scorers comprise the team for the state of Maine. Audrey Foster, Shelley Brackett and Joanna Otterson received scores high enough to place them on the team, with Kim Wyman and Tami Wetmore scoring well.

State moves on Norway chief

Officials of the state's Attorney General's office said Friday, July 27 they are formally conducting a criminal investigation of Norway Police Chief James R. DeNormandie.

Brian MacMaster, director of investigation for the Attorney General's office, said the decision was made to conduct a formal investigation after meeting with town officials last week.

MacMaster said he hopes the probe will help to either "dissolve" or confirm rampant rumors about the chief and accusations that DeNormandie is involved in illegal drugs.

"We're at the stage where we're receiving all these rumors that are out there floating around," MacMaster said. "We want to confirm or dissolve those allegations. We want to try to put some concerted effort to get it done, realizing the (emotion) in the town."

Norway Town Manager David Holt, who last week requested that the Attorney General's office step in, said he was happy to hear the news.

"I certainly welcome their help," Holt said. "It won't hurt. If there's reason enough to have an investigation, it should be looked into. Norway is at the point where an investigation cannot be harmful."

In recent weeks, several developments have thrown into question the town's confidence in its officials, police department and police chief.

A citizen-initiated petition drive has been underway that asks the FBI to investigate the Norway Police Department and other town officials. Residents have said they are concerned about the quality of their police force and how it handled two recent murders.

Furthermore, the police union recently cast a vote of no confidence against the chief.

"The investigation is a positive step," Holt said. "Something that needs to happen. But it should be made clear that this is not a fact-finding mission in the sense that the Attorney General's office will issue a report in the end."

If any wrongdoing is found, Holt said, they will take the case to court. "But if not, nothing happens."

A telephone message left at DeNormandie's home was not returned late last week. On Tuesday night, he agreed to a three-week paid administrative leave from his job.

Green water found in Mexico aquifer

State authorities said July 28 they are investigating the content of some green water pumped out of an aquifer that is within a mile and a half of an old Boise Cascade's landfill.

The water, which came out of a newly drilled well at DeSalle's Motor Inn and Restaurant on Route 2 in Mexico, is "a deep, deep pea color," according to Ike Goodwin of Turner, who drilled the well.

The well is one of few ever drilled in the aquifer, which apparently parallels the Androscoggin River in the Mexico area, said Goodwin. It is not near the town's public water supply, which comes from the Thompson Hill reservoir.

Samples of water—which Goodwin described as containing no oily substance, having no noxious odors, but as looking "pretty raunchy"—were sent to A&L Laboratory. It reported back that the water contained 88 milligrams per liter of tannin lignin, according to Terry Mingo, coordinator of the Department of Human Services' Well Head Protection Program.

Tannin lignin is a yellowish-brown material that usually results from the decay of leaves or other organic detritus, he said. The DHS, which has the authority to monitor drinking water supplies, sets no standard on the amount of the substance allowed in well water, he noted.

Although the department believes there is no public health risk because there are no public drinking supplies drawn from the aquifer, the DHS remains concerned about the green color of the water, Mingo said, and awaits the results of an investigation by the Department of Environmental Protection and more tests on the water.

"The green color is more suggestive of heavy metals like chromium, copper or nickel," he noted. Tannic acid from decayed matter combining with rock could leach out these metals, he said.

Among the possible sources of the green color, Mingo said, are an abandoned open dump in Rumford, a quarter mile from DeSalle's, upstream on the opposite side of the Androscoggin River; the former Vronstein and Cohen metal processing plant, three-quarters of a mile downstream; or Boise Cascade's landfill at Farrington Mountain, 1½ miles away in Mexico.

Sanding Brook

eight-acre lot between Broad Street and Crescent Park School. The lot, which plans call for developing in two phases, is now owned by Richard and Wendy Penley.

At the Bethel Planning Board's July 25 meeting, Morris to the group of over 20 people, "I think the major concerns have all had to do, one way or the other, with Sanding Brook and how the detention (basin) would work."

"The subdivision regulations require that... our stormwater design... not exceed the natural flow which it's at today," he said.

He said the company's calculations show that their detention basin design will meet or exceed the regulations.

"What the design attempts to do is detain the overflow and let it exit the site in a regulated manner," he said.

"Questions have been raised regarding the proximity of the detention (basin) to Sanding Brook," he said. "There are a couple of ways to approach this."

The company can apply to the Department of Environmental Protection for a Permit by Rule, he said, which is a simplified application procedure. In order to meet the requirements of the simplified permit application, either the detention basin must be built farther than 25 feet from Sanding Brook, or the company must show that Sanding Brook is an integral part of the town's storm drain system, he said.

Sally Rollinson, who lives on Broad Street, said that, a person with the DEP had told her, in a phone call, that the basin must be at least 25 feet, not from the edge of the brook but from the edge of the brook's wetland.

Morris said, "I don't know the answer right now to what the status of the brook is... it's obvious, when it gets down to the street, it's a very clear part of the town's drainage."

H. Peter Klein, an architect from Cambridge, Mass., who owns an Opera House condominium, said he had sent the board a letter and had thought the board would raise some of the questions to the developer that had been raised in that letter.

In his letter, Klein expressed concern that the detention basin would work as planned, given the wetness of the area. He suggested that the town require the developer to build the detention basin and outlet control early this fall, in order to monitor its effectiveness through the fall, winter and spring.

Planning Board Chairman Dennis Doyon told Klein, "I read your letter and then I took it out to Billy Stowell, our engineer. He will be at the public hearing" on the project.

Merfen Brown, also an abutter on Broad Street, said, "I don't think until you live in one of those houses you can understand the volume of water we're talking about." Brown says his sump pump runs frequently year round.

Bethel resident Dick Taylor said, "I think we all ought to be up front about it—the town has a lot riding on this. Obviously, the town is not going to be of a mind to very well determine whether this is a natural stream or not."

Taylor was referring to the relationship between the town's CDBG application and the affordable housing project.

"The whole thing is a full-on nightmare. There's a major, major question of the appropriate-ness, or the need for this," Taylor said.

Town Manager Rodney Lynch has said on several occasions that, despite the effect of refusing a permit for the project would have on the CDBG application—and the effect would likely be negative—the planning board must make Gleichman & Company "jump through the same hoops as anybody else."

Broad Street resident Stan Howe said, "There are three other concerns that will come up at the public hearing." The three concerns will be a traffic impact study, the impact on the historic district and, he said, "There seems to be inconsistencies in the (affordable housing) need study."

Pam Gleichman, of Gleichman & Company, said the project had been through what she called an "A-95 clearinghouse review," a year ago. That includes a historic review she said.

Howe, said he would like to see documentation of that review.

Planning Assistant Rosie Graham said the traffic study has been done and is on file at the town office.

"But I don't think you've had any public input on it," Howe said. "The people who live on that street know what it's about."

Graham said people are welcome to come in to the town office to review the traffic study, and to review the whole Bethel Park Apartments file.

In other business last Wednesday night, the planning board found the application for the proposed Twichell Brook Mall complete, but for a letter from the water district, statements of ability to finance from the mall's developer and tenants, and a signed road entrance and lane change agreement between the Dogan Associates and the Maine Department of Transportation.

The planning board held its public hearing on the mall application July 18 and will make its decision at the next planning board meeting, either Aug. 8 or Aug. 22.

Happy Birthday, Woodstock!

GAMING—Children gathered at the gaming tables set up Friday evening in the fire house parking lot, testing their skills.

THE PRINCE—Kyle Keniston, 3, is charming on the dance 'floor' as he leads his cousin Annmarie Foster, also 3, in tripping the light fantastic.

GRAND PARADE MARSHAL Herman C. Cole, 95, of Woodstock, led the Saturday morning parade in a 1940 Plymouth Coupe, owned by Jim and Elizabeth Knights, Cole's sister and brother-in-law. The car previously was owned by Jim Alger of Bethel.

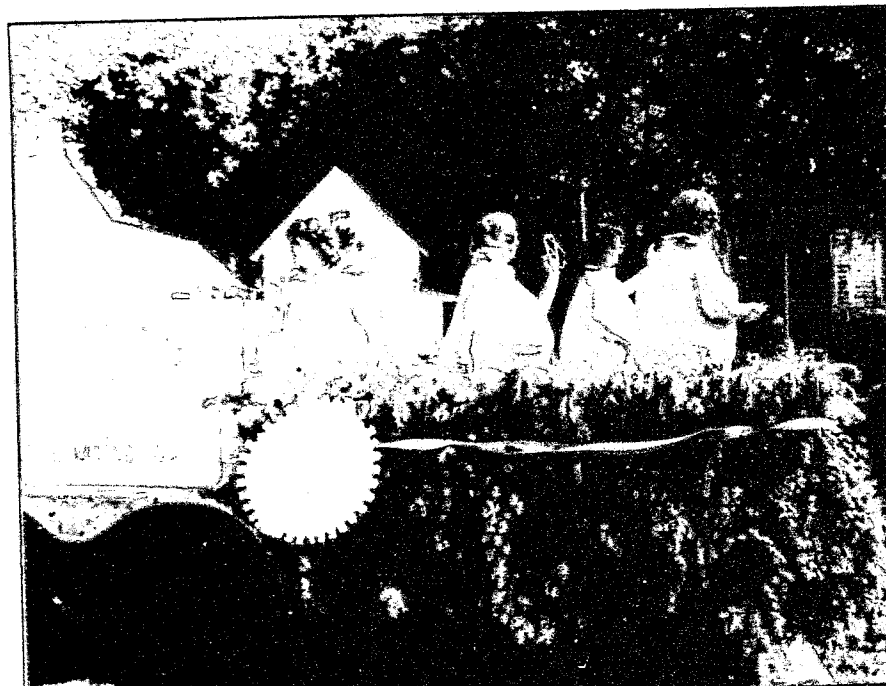

SITTING BACK and relaxing along the parade route were the members of Jefferson Lodge.

WOODSTOCK'S 175th anniversary celebration last weekend brought fantasyland to town. Cinderella, with her pumpkin coach, watches over Little Red Riding Hood, Marie Bourgeois. The girls participated in the children's parade, held Friday evening in Woodstock.

Bryant Pond

By ALICE HOYT

The August meeting of the Historical Society will be a picnic at Ruth Cox's home. For the 175th, curator Larry Billings donated a coronation glass to the museum. He wanted something in the Society's collections to represent his antique shop, The Crown. Some items from the former Chamber of Commerce have been given to the Society.

Grace Horne, Grand Chief of the Pythian Sisters of Maine was an honor guest recently at a cookout dinner at the home of Evelyn Bean, P.G.C. Also attending were Pythian Sisters of the former temple at Norway, Edward Glover, Past Grand Chancellor of Maine was also present.

Beth, Steve and Marybeth Hoover of Avoca, N.Y. are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Hoyt, and other relatives in the area.

On Wednesday Ken and Alice Hoyt, Beatrice Farnum, Beth, Steve and Marybeth Hoover, JoAnn Crockett, Ray and Shawn, Jim, Susie and Joseph Hoyt, Bobby Hoyt and Gwen spent the day at Twin Lights State Park and Orr's Island to see the whale.

Franklin Grange #124 will observe past masters night on Aug. 6 with Russell Yates in charge.

Friday night Beatrice Farnum, Alice and Ken Hoyt, Jim, Susie and Joseph Hoyt joined a family party at Steven's camp on Songo Pond to celebrate the birthdays of John Chase and Jennifer Steven.

Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Olson have twin girls at their family.

Mr. and Mrs. Almon Coolidge had visitors from Turner, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cordwell, Sr. It was learned that the Cordwells are related.

Ryan Coolidge caught the first fish at the first annual Mollycoddett Day Fishing Contest and his brother, Jason, caught the largest. The boys are John Coolidge's sons and the contest was held at Neil Olson's.

Polly and Charles Smith returned from Hermit Island on July 2 where they had been clamming for the first time. They visited Connie Brewer at Flying Point on the way home. They visited the Klingers at Otisfield where they said goodbye to Robert and Helen Kern, who are returning to Florida. Polly and Charles heard from Roger and Louise Twitchell, who are in Alaska and they had been fishing on the Russian River.

I will be calling in the mornings now. If you have news, call between 9 a.m.-1 p.m., 824-3350.

By GLADYS KILGORE

An awful bad thunderstorm and winds passed over here Friday. Several from Lovell attended the Worlds Fair in North Waterford, Saturday.

Miss Michelle Boino was given a bridal shower in North Lovell Sunday afternoon.

Shirley Grant came up from Auburn and visited her brother and wife, Bob Grant over the weekend.

Mrs. Grace Nelson visited her niece at Sweden one day last week.

The Rev. Janice Wilcox has been visiting here in town one day this week.

The R.F.D. mailman has been on vacation last week. Mary Fox has been delivering the mail this week.

The carpenters are doing a nice job on Mr. and Mrs. Bob Grant's home that was burned by fire.

Northwest Bethel

By CLARICE GIBSON

Our gardens and countryside have got their much needed rain. Everything looks so lush and green; but or course, this also brings the weeds. Bethel did have a nice day for their Mollycoddett Day activity. Most everyone has told me that they thought the parade was the best for years, if not ever.

Lisa Smith was in the parade with her horse, Tapper; and Carol Mason rode her horse, Sandy.

Frank went down to help at the Lion's booth and guess that all booths had a successful day.

Robert and Nancy Saunders of Nashua, N.H. came July 20 and went to Mollycoddett festivities as well as his mother, Pat Greig.

Larry, Sally, Zack and Mary Smith of East Conway, N.H. spent July 20 with his brother Dennis and family and July 21 with his parents, Homer and Edie Smith. They also all went to Bethel for Mollycoddett. Others who said that they were Ernest and Alberta Angevine, Mary Chapman and son Errol, Stanley and Althea Brown, Joe and Gerry Shimamura took their grandsons Shandy Dylan and Nariko, Dick and Sue Angevine went to hear the music and see the fireworks, Dick and Grace Douglass went to the parade, as well as Ira, Kristen and James William Gibson. Sarah Coolidge rode on the Rotary Club float for the Spanish Exchange Students and that was the winning float.

Linda Howe was on the fund-raiser group to raise money for Crescent Park and Ethel Bishop School. One of their projects was painting faces at which Judy Coolidge, Dawn Seames and Sarah Coolidge, also participated.

The Bob Howe family and Kevin Trivard family of Gray got together for a cookout and later all went to the fireworks.

Dr. John Mason was the first Bethel finisher in his running group and 11th overall. Tracey Mason ran in the 30 to 39 age group and Cassie Mason ran in the 15 and under, 1 mile race, as well as Jon and Jen Shaw, twins of Dr. Leonard and Becky Shaw and Sarah and Vicky Coolidge, daughters of Victor and Judy Coolidge.

Matthew, Stephen, Melinda and Brandon Bishop spent Friday night with her parents, Charles and Ruth Mason, and all went down Saturday to Mollycoddett Day. Melinda was in the parade as she was Miss Mollycoddett of 1981. Probably I left out a lot who went but these are all I heard of.

Doug and Terry Smith went to South Carolina to pick up his son, Adam, and arrived home in time Saturday for Adam to go to the parade with his grandparents, Homer and Edie Smith. Ernest and Alberta Angevine went to his brother's Johnny and Connie Angevine, July 22.

Bud and Jeanette Lamson of Rumford were recent callers of Ernest and Alberta Angevine, as well as Cecil and Marion Abbott of Andover, July 24, and Orial and Agnes Debois of Shelburne, N.H., July 25, in the evening.

Joe and Gerry Shimamura picked up Justin Shimamura at Nazarene Camp, July 21, and Debbie Seames and son Ryan picked up her other son, Rusty the same day.

Dawn Shimamura of Norway brought Justin Shimamura to his grandparents, Joe and Gerry Shimamura, July 23, after he had spent the weekend with Billy and Dawn Shimamura.

Dan Shaw of Braintree, Mass., spent the weekend with his uncle Dr. Leonard Shaw and family.

Amy Laban, daughter of John and Sue Laban, has recently spent a week at a field hockey camp at Bates College.

July 23, Evelyn Hilborn took Alberta Angevine and Sarah and Jessie Coolidge to Gorham, N.H. and they all went shopping.

July 19, George and Betty Gilbert and Rupert Grover went to Richardson Lake fishing but the water was so rough they didn't stay out.

July 22, Frank's nephew, Richard Saunders, brought us three nice blue fish that he had caught that day.

Don Bean's mother, Ruth Bean, is at her camp on Songo and they have been visiting back and forth.

Charles and Ruth Mason went to Greenwood field to watch their grandsons, Charles Mason IV, play in the championship game on the Greenwood team. Charles IV parents, Chuckie and Kathy Mason and, and sisters, Jennifer and Meredith, also went.

After the parade Saturday, Stan and Althea Brown drove to Oxford to their daughter Ann and Pete Dunbar's.

Stanley and Althea Brown took a picnic July 20 which they had at Height of Land. They proceeded to Oquossoc and came back by Wilson's Mills and Errol, N.H. They saw a bull moose at Grafton and two bull moose at Wentworth Location.

John Sweeney saw a bear just before he got to his sister's, Althea Brown's, on his way to visit here.

Frank and I went to Lewiston on business, July 26, and Ira, Kristin and James William also went July 26 to Lewiston, shopping.

Four things in any land must dwell, if it endures and prospers well: One is manhood, true and good; One is noble womanhood; One is child life, clean and bright; And one is an altar kept alight.

By OLIVE R. DAVIS

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dillingham were host to a family outing and barbecue picnic Wednesday at their camp on Hogan Pond. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Donald Dillingham, Alan, Becky and Debbie of Portland; Leo Hemingway of Oxford; Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Dodge, Sr.; Homer Dodge, Jimmy Dodge and Debbie and Chris Martin, all of South Paris; and Craig Moore-Dillingham of South Woodstock. Cathy Ring and Kyle of Norway and Lorri Parlin and Willy Wilson of Hebron were unable to attend.

Mrs. Gordon Dillingham attended a babyshower for Christine Dillingham, Sunday, at the home of Mrs. Eleanor Andrews of North Paris.

A birthday dinner party was given to Esther Davis, Tuesday, July 17. Those attending were Jackie Tibbets and mother Pat and Jerry Shirley and Edith Deegan. Ice cream and cakes given by her daughter Pat and one by Edith Deegan were served later in the evening to later guests who were Mr. and Mrs. Erland Twitchell, Leona Farnum, Alice Deegan and daughter Sharon.

Afternoon callers at Esther's were Marta Clements and Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Hollenbeck of Idaho. Dennis and Betty Hollenbeck are Marta Clements' guests.

Dinner guests of Olive Davis, Monday, were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Andrews and Esther Davis. They celebrated Arthur's birthday with cake, ice cream and a gift. Arthur has twisted his knee so was in some pain from that. We all had a nice visit.

The Miclons enjoyed a camping trip in the mountains the past week and a half and returned home in the middle of the week.

Woodstock Historical Society has received a gift from Barbara Hathaway of a dress form and Herschel Abbott donated a framed diploma. We hope all visited the Society museum on Saturday, the 175th birthday of the town.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid Scott and Mrs. Ann Proctor and Ivan, Jr. were in Stratton for the weekend at Stoney Brook at their respective summer places.

Vicky Sanborn and Brant of North Conway, N.H. spent the weekend at camp with her parents, Vernon and Miriam Inman on Hick's Pond.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Inman, Vernie and Wale are in New Germany, Nova Scotia this week. They are visiting with Jacob and Connie Penney and family. Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Hyam joined a family gathering at Panther Pond on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Milton Inman are in Alaska, where they are traveling with Sayward and Cynthia Lamb. From all reports the salmon fishing is great.

Bill and Ginny Aridas of Riverhead, Long Island, N.Y. spent several days with her parents, Vernon and Miriam Inman, last week. Vicky and Brant Sanborn of North Conway, N.H. were also here this week for several days.

Sarah Doughty is a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital. Much sympathy is extended to the family of Nancy Herrick upon her death.

Newry

By GIL SEELEY

The Newry Community Church Ladies Circle will hold their meeting at Olive Anderson's residence Monday evening, Aug. 6, with Sylvia Wight presiding.

Shirley Keith was operated on for cataract and is now home recovering. Good luck Shirley.

What a day... Mollycoddett Day... A celebration to remember... No fights, no problems, lots of kids and lots of music... Good food, and meeting lots of friends... Then home tired. Fireworks?

The ladies of Newry who "Bowl for Fun" were: Karlene Bachelder, Betsy Clark, Louise Tetley, Gil Seeley, Olive Anderson, Eleanor Davis and Sylvia Wight. Rona Powers was a guest. Betsy was high scorer (again) with one string of 110 for singles and she was also high on triples. Karlene had a single of 102, Sylvia had one single of 105. All went to lunch and did some shopping.

Karlene Bachelder won two passes for the circus, Saturday, Mollycoddett Day.

Marion and Bill Montgomery were at their camp on Branch Road last week and took Jim and Olive Anderson out to dinner at the Boiler Room Restaurant.

Songo Pond

By ALICE KIMBALL

From Chugiak, Alaska. Sunday p.m., July 22, sunny and 80 degree.

After an eight day trip from Songo Pond to Portland, Ore. we spent several days visiting my brother and wife. Camped each night along the way in two campers with my brother and wife from Unity, Roy and Bertha Hunter, and my youngest brother and wife, Vaughn and Mary Hunter, from Carlisle, Pa.

Our first night was in Ohio, suffered through a heavy thunder shower with high winds and hail—blew the awning off our camper (safely recovered.)

Next day, Sunday, July 1, rode by Oldsmobile Plant, also Chrysler, through Chicago via Skyway Toll Bridge. Stayed in Wisconsin Racing Country Park near Lake Michigan Monday, drove through farming countryside, beautiful large farms and visited "House on the Rock" in Spring Green, Wis.—A day to remember.

Tuesday drove through Minnesota—Albany-Freeport, Dairy Capital of the World. Camped at KOA Jamestown, N.D. North Dakota also has its share of picturesque badlands, also Theodore Roosevelt National Park and Painted Canyon. Another night in a KOA near Billings, Mont. Suffered bad headaches crossing the Rockies.

Crossed Continental Divide, visited "World Museum of Mining" in Butte—camped at RV Casino at Albutou, Mont.

Friday gained a third hour of daylight—Silver lead and zinc mining in Kellogg, Idaho. Rode to top of Silver Mountain in newly opened gondola ride, 6,400 feet high, three and a half miles—up over town of Wardner. In Idaho two Maine cars passed our camper—one bumper sticker said "North to Alaska." Visited former Unity friends in Richland, Wash. and camped at Charbonneau Park on Snake River. Toured the Ice Harbor Dam and Fishway there before continuing on into State of Oregon. The least said about both our vehicles running out of gas on a lovely highway will suffice for now.

Only accident we saw was a trailer truck upset along the Columbia River in Oregon. Reached Portland, Ore. Saturday afternoon after sightseeing the beautiful Horsetail, Bridal Veil and Multnomah Waterfalls.

My brother knew us all and seemed to enjoy our visit, though he was more feeble than I expected.

To be continued later.

CARD OF THANKS

I thank each and everyone of you for the cards and remembrances you sent me after my brother, "Bob" Lowe, passed away. I wish each one of you the best of luck.

Mary P. Foster

CARD OF THANKS

Robert and Violet Swain wish to thank all who made their 45th wedding anniversary so memorable on July 21. Special thanks to those who brought, or sent, beautiful cards, gifts or floral arrangements.

Extra special thanks to the Ladies Aid of the Andover Congregational Church who prepared the buffet.

Resolutions of Respect

Whereas our Heavenly Father has called our beloved sister, Edith Hejuk, from earthly duties to the great Grange above. And whereas she will be greatly missed by the members of Pleasant Valley Grange:

Resolved that we, the members of Pleasant Valley Grange, extend our sincerest sympathy to the bereaved family.

There are several nonprescription drug products that, when applied directly to the skin, aid in the partial or complete removal of corns. Liquids, lotions, and creams are available. Small adhesive discs or pads are designed to be placed directly on the corn. Most of the corn "removal" products contain salicylic acid. This ingredient dissolves the dead skin of which the corn is composed. Using the pad on or around the corn eventually decreases shoe pressure and relieves the pain.

Persons who have diabetes or circulation problems should not attempt to remove corns with overthe-counter products. Damage to the skin could lead to tissue damage and severe infection.

Gertrude Hutchins and Florence Hall shopped in Rumford on Wednesday.

Richard Averill phoned Florence Hall from Duluth, Minn. He asked to be remembered to friends in Andover.

Gertrude Hutchins was in Bethel for a doctor's appointment on Friday.

Visitors at Anne Fox's were Fred Greenlow of Topsham, David Harrington of New Haven, Conn., Nancy Fox of West Bethel and Betsy York of South Paris.

Judy Hall of Roxbury called on Florence Hall and Gertrude Hutchins on Monday.

Flora Whitten was a supper guest of the Ricky Mills family, Sunday night.

Stacy Thompson of Rumford and sons, Jason and Joel, visited Gertrude Hutchins and Florence Hall on Sunday.

High Street

West Paris

By VIVA WHITMAN

Not a very bright morning as I sit down to type. How it rained last night as well as having thunder showers.
Not a very interesting evening and Kariann came up to stay for a few days and she doesn't like the showers at all. They aren't saying good weather before Thursday. The gardeners needed a drink of water but by the way it showered last night I guess they can't be too thirsty this morning.

Had good luck last week in getting my tooth replaced in my dental plate so was glad of that. Had gotten the Millers to drive me over to Fryeburg on Monday to leave the plate and I don't like to ride so long. Came through Berlin and Gorham, N.H. and back through Bethel and then home to Auburn. It was a hot and humid day but the mountains were cooler and riding was better with the windows open.
I thought I would be too tired to go to Grange but wasn't so got ready and went to West Paris Grange in the evening with Russell and Peggy. It was Green Sash night and a nice meeting and program. Their next meeting will be the first Thursday in August.

Got my appointment at Dr.
Jealous' cancelled on Friday but Russell and I went to get groceries and took Russell to the hospital for his usual blood test. We kept busy as we always do.

Peggy went to Massachusetts to visit with Mrs. Roaf, whom she used to work for at one time a few years ago. They were having a party for her birthday on Saturday so Peggy went down on Friday and stayed overnight.
That gave her a chance to visit more.
Viola took me to see Dr. Jealous on Saturday to replace the appointment on Friday. Kept busy on Saturday as were having a reunion here on Sunday and wanted the house to look good for it. Sunday came but not with the good weather they had predicted all week so we didn't know whether to set up for the family reunion or not but did anyway and had a good time with those who came. Grace had gotten two tarps to put up over tables, Russell put up one of his tarps by hanging it from the trees and hooking onto the picnic table and also brought a tarp so we had them all put up and got ready.

Some of the folks had come before it started to rain but rain it did for awhile and we kept dry under the tarps. Thank God for them.

Don't remember if I can name all the folks who came or not but there were: Elvira nad Martha Birney; Martha and Lester Michaud with children Heather, Charles and Adam; Nancy with her three children, Jennifer, Allen, Silas; John and Mary Spear and daughter; Karl and Pat Spear with two dogs; Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Tufts;
Marion Rowe and Nellie Segar;
Wynona and Michael Wolf and girls,
Courtney and Kariann; Helen Strout;
Lawrence and Grace Yates; Tom Yates; Russell Yates; Peggy Blake; and Viva Whitman. Hope I haven't left anyone out.

We left the family reunion and went to wish Mary and Reino Korhonen well on their 50th wedding anniversary.
Matti and Etta Mae Korhonen were married at the same time and as it was a double wedding, there was a double 50th anniversary party for them which made it nice. I do hope they all had a good time and will have many more happy years of marriage. Congratulations to both couples.

Between other things I have been putting up some vegetables for freezing so keep out of mischief real well.
Put up broccoli and a few peas on Monday.

Couldn't contact Mary this week so don't know what she has been up to but I expect plenty as usual.

Hope everyone has a good week ahead and the heat and humidity doesn't get you. Take care anyway.

Moose Tales

ly at the door.

As time went on she also learned where my bedroom was. Shortly before 8 a.m. we would hear her under the window making her little sound, much like a puppy's whimper.

Because we lived on Route 2 it was almost impossible to sneak out in my bathrobe to feed Molly without an audience, even at 6 a.m. Many pictures were taken of Molly that summer of 1974, as it is not every day you can photograph a moose calf on the front lawn of someone's home—let alone one drinking a bottle on the steps.

I know this is a different kind of moose story than you expected but when I see a picture of a moose it brings back memories of Molly.

Ruth McKenna
(a former Bethel girl)

Moose Tales

But to me it will always be an event. Originally I came from Massachusetts (Peabody to be exact) and as a city girl I have come to enjoy the State of Maine for many years now. I consider myself a real Mainer and would find it hard to leave this State.

When I first moved here, the sight of a moose would have me running to a window with camera in hand and calling all my family to see this big "thing" standing in our backyard.

Moose, I find, are unpredictable creatures who just won't move out of your way.

One particular time my husband and I, along with three of our children, were traveling toward Buckfield when we suddenly heard hoofbeats come out of nowhere. My husband was driving at a good speed but slowed down a bit as he glanced up to see the biggest bull moose clomping alongside our station wagon. The moose eyed us all through the window, then smacked our car at the side and with a swish of his tail ran into the woods. Luckily he left no damage to our car, just splattered a little mud here and there.

And just recently, my daughter wanted me to take a drive with her. It was the first time I had taken a ride with her since she got her license. That in itself is a traumatic experience. But she was driving quite well and I had just begun to relax and not grip the door handle when a moose bounded right across our path.

Not wanting to get her nervous, I said "look out", not too loudly, as the moose skipped pretty close to us and off into the woods. She maintained her composure, though, and drove like a pro. But I was really glad it wasn't that really big bull moose that once came too close for comfort.

Sunday, Nov. 6, 1988

I glanced out of the back window and observed two moose in the pasture. I spoke to mother to come and see them.

The bull walked up to the fence (four strands of barbed wire) and jumped. He tripped on the fence, hit the ground head first, with one antler gouged in to the dirt. He went over onto his back with his head twisted back and for a moment had all four legs sticking straight up in the air. He appeared stunned.

At first I thought he had broken his neck and had visions of attempting to care for a dead moose before I had to leave for church. But he got up, looked around with a rather silly expression on his face (no, I didn't know moose could show facial expression, either) as much to say, "I hope nobody saw me do that."

The cow then attempted to jump the fence, but instead the fence went down in the process.

I remarked to mother, "That happens often when boys get to showing off for the girls—they fall flat on their faces."

Peeping Tom

Several years ago my uncle Waldo Hall was sitting in his bedroom one evening at his home on Route 26 just north of Bryant Pond village. Suddenly a scraping sound reverberated through the house.

He thought someone was attempting to frighten him. He said it sounded much like a trick people used to play on "newly-weds" in the south, by rubbing a rough board over a tight rope. He turned the outside lights on, but saw nothing.

The next morning, a neighbor called his attention to moose tracks on the highway shoulder which went up toward the house. He went around the bedroom window and sure enough there were scrape marks in the house siding. He remarked that the moose must have been watching him through the bedroom window.

I guess we would have to say that was a "peeping-Tom" moose.

"There were a lot of problems between planning board members," Corriveau said. "They'd go to a meeting and sit there and argue for two or three hours and not get anything done."

The town had to hold a special town meeting, anyway, under a new state mandate requiring townspeople to vote to accept specific state funds and reimbursements, such as municipal revenue sharing, state aid to education, civil emergency funds and veterans' reimbursements. The selectmen added the article to abolish the planning board to the special town meeting warrant, Corriveau said.

At the meeting, Selectman James Sweetser said, "We can't go on holding up people and their applications. The selectmen have to abolish the board."

Selectman Kenneth Cole noted, "Of the three members on the planning board, it would seem odd that only one is present tonight. It seems to indicate the level of enthusiasm over the last two years."

After the vote, Sweetser said if planning board members were interested in helping the selectmen, the help would be appreciated.

Bethel biathletes take first, second at Bretton Woods 5K

Gould Academy Biathlon Club member Ben Michaud hit eight out of ten shots and had the second fastest running time to take first place in the Kingsbury Summer Biathlon Series 5K at Bretton Woods, N.H. on Saturday.

Michaud was followed by Gould coach Kirk Siegel, who missed three shots and ran one minute slower.

Both Michaud and Siegel finished ahead of 1988 National Summer Biathlon Champion Keith Woodward, who also won the Kingsbury Series race at Gould Academy July 1.

Michaud left immediately after the race for a two-week training camp with the U.S. Biathlon Team at the Lake Placid Olympic Training Center. Following the national team camp, he will depart for Northern Michigan University in Marquette, Mich., where he will begin his freshman year.

Michaud is enrolled in a U.S. Olympic Committee-subsidized program for student-athletes with international aspirations. There he will train with four other national calibre biathletes under the direction of two former Olympians.

Michaud is the son of Bernard and Deborah Michaud of Bethel.

Gould Academy welcomes 15 international students

Fifteen students from throughout the world have joined 35 American students in a summer of study at Gould's six-week concentrated academic enrichment program.

While many are taking English and traditional academic disciplines like mathematics and science, others have chosen enrichment courses such as silversmithing, computer science and a special outdoor skills program run by staff from the Hurricane Island Outward Bound School in Newry.

The foreign students are Daniela Barra and Marcelo Jaramillo of Ecuador; Stephan Butenko and Dmitri Todiak of the Soviet Union; Coralie Sicard and Thomas Chetani of Paris, France; Ryuta Koide, Rena Karaji and Yoko Miyazawa of Japan; Marc Keschmann of Austria; Jean Santelises and Ianna Molan of the Dominican Republic; Raffaele Parisi of Italy; and Marie Wollheim of Switzerland.

Local students in the summer school program are Luke Gray, Patrick Harrington and Meredith Otten of Bethel; Anne Gustavson of Oxford; and Meredith Howe of Bryant Pond.

Visiting local faculty are Telstar math instructor Earl Lamoreau; English-as-a-second-language teacher, Kristine Gustavson of Oxford; and English teacher Karin Clough, who is the daughter of Gould headmaster Bill Clough. Jack Flanagan of Newry is the Outward Bound instructor.

A summer evening with the Westies

GOOD CROWD, BUT ALMOST EMPTY STANDS—The grandstand has been refurbished at Perham Field, but most of the fans still prefer to watch the action from comfortable seats on the lawn.

MANY FINE ATHLETES have played their game at the Edwin J. Mann complex in West Paris, but doesn't that look like Larry Bird breaking to his left?

It's usually one of the most popular spots to spend a summer evening, but Perham Field in West Paris was unnaturally quiet last week—as the hometown favorite Westies enjoyed a well-earned week off before the Pine Tree League playoff season.

The Westies regular season record of 14-4 put them in first place going into the playoffs and earned them a bye in the first round. Just as important, it assured them of the home field advantage throughout the semifinals and championship. The last two seasons the Westies made it to the championship round only to fall to arch rival Lewiston. This year they're playing to go all the way.

Unfortunately, the Westies seemed to have gotten a bit rusty over their break, leading to a 7-6 loss to Rumford in semifinal play Sunday. The best-of-three series continued Tuesday, too late for results at presstime. But if the Westies won at Rumford Tuesday, the third game of the semifinal series will be held in West Paris on Thursday at 5:30 p.m.

WAITING HIS TURN AT BAT—Generations of local boys have learned their first baseball from the stands at Perham Field, then gone on to play on the big field themselves.

Text and photos
by Michael Daniels

TOUGH CRITICS—The fans at Perham Field know their game. Here, Telstar JV Coach Neil Olson and former Rebel star Jim Merrill watch the action, along with a friend.

YER OUT! An opposing batter leans in the dust after flailing, and failing, to connect with a Bobby Seames' two-strike offering.

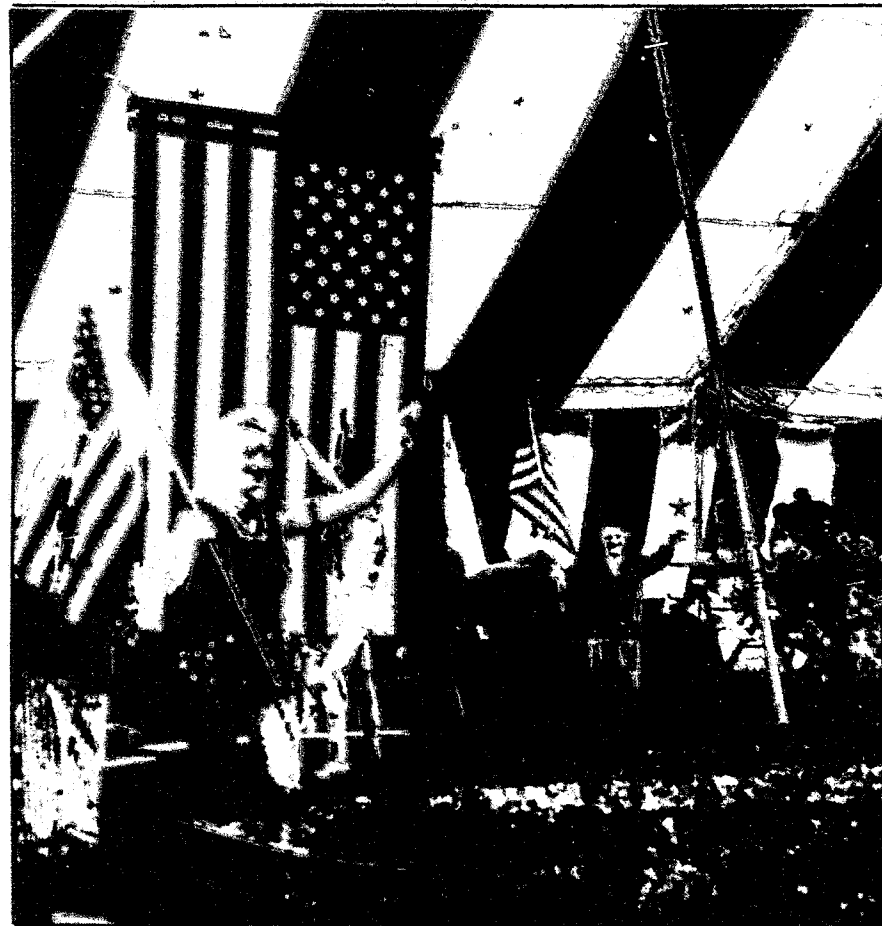

GROUND RULES—Westies manager Mark Thurlow explains the lay of the land to umpires and his opposition counterpart.

TAILGATING is a tradition at Perham Field.

THIS SHOT GOT THROUGH the Westies infield, but not a lot do.

BIG TOP—Children and parents alike o-o-h and a-h-h at the trampoline acts, and, above, a ride atop the big elephant is almost a mandatory act under the the Roberts Bros. Circus big top. The circus was in town last weekend at Pat Murphy's field off Route 2, thanks to the Bethel Lions Club.

the Maine Forest Products Council and the Maine Tree Foundation, and Bob Withrow, Woodlands Manager for Boise Cascade, have been invited to speak about a new initiative called "Project Landshare."

The forum is open to the public, but reservation must be made to the Bethel Area Chamber at 824-2282 by Monday, Aug. 13. Choice of full breakfasts are blueberry pancakes or scrambled eggs for $6 to Chamber members or $7 to nonmembers or $2 for coffee and program. Call soon for your reservation or more information.

Tuesday, Aug. 21, will hopefully find all golfing enthusiasts at the Bethel Inn for the first annual Chamber Challenge Golf Tournament. Individuals or teams of four can enter this scramble format which begins at noon. Registration is $50 per person or $200 for a team and includes green fees, cart rental, a barbecue dinner, the auction and eligibility to win one of many prizes. Call the Chamber office for registration forms.

Bill Riley, chairman of the Big E Committee, is seeking volunteers to represent our area at this September agricultural/trade/travel show in Springfield, Mass. A volunteers' meeting will be held on Wednesday, Aug. 22, at Riley's house in Woodstock. Those interested should call Riley before the meeting.

Thursday, Aug. 23, at 7 p.m. the Chamber's quarterly general membership meeting will be held at the Chamberlain Resort on Route 2 in Hanover. All members or prospective members are invited to attend. Welcome to our newest member, dentist John Mason of Bethel.

Kristen Kimball graduates from Northeastern

Kristen Kimball of West Paris is among the 3,738 Northeastern University graduates who received degrees at the June 1990 commencement ceremonies in the Boston Garden. In addition, 164 students received Juris Doctor degrees from the school of law in May, bring the total class of 1990 to 3,902.

Northeastern University is the world leader in cooperative education. After the freshman year, Northeastern undergraduates alternate quarters of full-time study with quarters of paid work in fields relevant to their majors. Northeastern offers full- and part-time programs in arts and sciences, business, computer science, criminal justice, engineering, teaching and counseling, law, nursing and pharmacy and allied health professions.

Middle Intervale Meeting House news

On Monday, July 23, Geraldine Howe and Randall Bennett hosted a local history lesson for the SAD #44 Chapter I Summer School Program at the Middle Intervale Meeting House. Howe, vice president of the Meeting House Society, and Bennett, Curator of the Bethel Historical Society, showed photographs and told about the background of this historical site.

The children were entertained with stories of the Common in Middle Intervale, once the center of Bethel, and how the circa 1816 meeting house was used for many purposes. Also, Howe spoke about the recent restoration and showed pictures of the renovations. The children have been visiting various local historical points of interest as part of their summer theme of History of Oxford County. Accompanying the group were teachers, Joline Shimamura and Melanie Ellsworth, with parent volunteers. The Middle Intervale Meeting House Society was delighted to have the opportunity to share its history with the children. Members encourage anyone who is interested in the building and the history of early Bethel to attend the next meeting. It is the regular summer meeting held on Monday evening, Aug. 13, at 7 p.m.

Sarah Buckman graduates from Middlebury College

Sarah L. Buckman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Francis E. Buckman of Bethel, received a Bachelor of Arts degree, Cum Laude, in American Literature from Middlebury College at the 1990 Commencement exercises on Sunday, May 27, on the Vermont liberal arts college campus. Bill Moyers, internationally known award-winning broadcast journalist, delivered the commencement address to the 550 graduates and approximately 3,500 parents, relatives and friends. Moyers was awarded an honorary degree later in the program.

A week in the life of HILLARY HARRISON

Howdy Doody, how's it going? It's been busy here. I'm taking swimming lessons every morning for two weeks from 9:45-10:30 at our health club and right after swimming I've got racquetball classes from 10:30-noon, so it's a pretty hectic schedule. Besides that, we've all been working hard. I'm still pulling weeds. Speaking of weeds, we have got tomatoes growing in our garden. I can't wait to see my flowers start blooming. Mollycodd Day was fun. I ran in the one mile race and I wasn't prepared to, because I didn't know I was going to run it until I got there (my friend talked me into it). But anyway, I had no socks on so I got a blister on my foot. And I didn't stretch. Whoops. But overall I got 31st place out of 65 people.

Rotary Club notes

The highlight of the July 24 breakfast meeting was the induction of the Bethel Rotary Club's newest members, Dennis Doyon and John Caron.

July has been a busy month for the Rotary Club. The auction, chaired by David Murphy, was held on Friday evening, July 30. Most Rotary members pitched in to solicit items and to move the items, clean and organize them at the Telstar High cafeteria.

Nearly 150 bidders attended the auction and many Rotarians pitched in to help Murphy and Rick Whitney present the items. Saturday, on the Common at Mollycodd Day, Rotarians barbecued chickens and steaks, and sold baked potatoes, t-shirts, corn on the cob and buttons. Both events were a financial success.

These projects, added to other Rotary efforts throughout the year, have helped to provide generous scholarships, Senior Citizen meals, Christmas baskets to the needy, as well as many other community services.

Also at the July 24 meeting, Melinda Remington gave Rotary information on Rotary Foundation Scholarships. These scholarships promote international relations and friendships. Students who receive the scholarships travel to other countries to complete one year of academic or vocational training.

Guests at the meeting included Linda Varnell of Bethel, Gil Robinson, Jim Krowall, Bill Lowther and Charles Felt, summer regulars; Al Barth of Oxford Hills; Ira Pitcher of Lewiston-Auburn; Ed Perry of Urbane, Ill.; Arthur Rockland of Seabrook, N.H.; and Al Pinkering.

From the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce
It's looking like August is going to be another very busy month for the Chamber.

A group of volunteers are travelling to Andover on Aug. 4 to be a part of the Andover Old Home Days celebration, selling the Chamber's famous lobster rolls once again.

A breakfast forum is planned for Wednesday, Aug. 15, from 7:30-9 a.m. at the Bethel Inn south dining room. Ted Johnston, Executive Director of

Sudbury Canada Days set for Aug. 10-12

The 11th annual Sudbury Canada Days, the summer heritage festival of the Bethel Historical Society, will be held this year Aug. 10-12.

Kicking off events on Aug. 10 will be a reception highlighting the launch of a pictorial history project of the Bethel Historical Society.

This project is part of the Maine Street '90 events planned for Bethel and will officially mark the beginning of a project that will result in a pictorial history of the town.

On Saturday, Aug. 11, festivities will begin at 1 p.m. with the annual children's parade (theme to be announced). Following the parade there will be an afternoon of children's games as well as horseshoe, croquet and badminton tournaments, an art show, flower show, historical book fair, historical videos, logging/farming exhibit, craft demonstrations/exhibits, a log driver's bean supper and an old time variety show.

Sunday's events will begin with an old fashioned church service at the West Parish Congregational Church at 9:30 a.m. and in the afternoon continue with the flower, art and historical video shows, plus the farming/logging exhibit.

Anyone wishing further information should call the Bethel Historical Society at 207-424-2908.

Sudbury Canada was the original name of Bethel prior to incorporation (1796). It was one of several grants given by the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for service in the Canada campaign in 1690. The original grantees were from Sudbury, Mass.

Each year the Bethel Historical Society honors Bethel's 18th century heritage with this summer festival dedicated to the town's long and rich history.

All events will take place near and in the Society's Broad Street headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House.

Carl Hansen joins Mahoosuc Realty

Mahoosuc Realty of Bethel recently announced that Carl Hansen has joined their staff.

Hansen, who lives on Mason Street in Bethel with his wife Nancy and their three children, has worked for many years in the area as a builder and owns Hansen & Hansen Co. Hansen was also responsible for the development of the Mountain View Mall on lower Main Street in Bethel where Mahoosuc Realty is located.

"I think my experience in the building business will help my customers evaluate prospective homes. The more knowledge I can share will help expedite what can be a long process. Having been involved in the business on several levels has also kept me informed on many of the issues of planning, land use regulations and ordinances that affect property owners," Hansen says.

Hansen has most recently worked with Lenwood Andrews of Woodstock in securing a buyer of the Andrews Mill property. Andrews was concerned that if the mill were sold, the historical value of the site would be lost. Hansen found a buyer and arranged for all the permits so the new owners can preserve the site and continue to operate the water powered equipment.

Hansen has been involved with real estate sales in the Naples area where he and his wife have operated a summer cottage resort and restaurant for the past several years. He says he is excited about working closer to home and looks forward to helping with the real estate needs in the Bethel area.

Outlook Studios contracts with Country Showdown winners

Don Welch and Dale Davis of Wilton, known as "Wild Weeds" were first place winners in the six hour TrueValue/GMC Country Showdown held at the Mexico Recreation Park on Sunday, sponsored by Rumford/Mexico radio station WTBM.

The winners received a recording contract from Outlook Studios in Bethel and will compete in a statewide competition at the Skowhegan Fair on Aug. 10 at 8 p.m.

Second place winner was singer/guitarist Sam Chapman of Bethel, while the third place went to Bill Scott Band of West Peru.

Mime, improvisation, magic shows set for Celebration Barn Theater

Celebration Barn Theater of South Paris is pleased to announce its performances for Friday and Saturday, Aug. 10 and 11. On Friday, Aug. 10, at 8 p.m. Tony Montanaro will be hosting a Barn Show with the best of the performances from his Intermediate/Advanced Mime and Improvisation Workshop.

Participants in this workshop are from Canada and all over the United States. They will be performing works in progress as well as existing material in a variety of mediums including: mime, acting, storytelling, comedy, improvisation and much more.

On Saturday, Aug. 11, at 8 p.m. illusionist Bruce Johnson will perform. Johnson was chosen as a Gold Medal Finalist by his peers in the International Brotherhood of Magicians. He is also a graduate of the prestigious Chavez College of Magic, the only sleight-of-hand school of its kind in the world. Johnson's performances have received ovations from coast to coast at some of the premier theaters, clubs and shows in the country including the Bob Hope USO Club and the Magic Castle in Hollywood.

Celebration Barn Theater is located on Stockfarm Road, just off of Route 117 North in South Paris.

Tickets are $5 for adults and $2.50 for children 12 and under. Reservations are being accepted this year. Tickets will also be available at the door. For more information or reservations call Celebration Barn's office at 207-743-8452.

U.S. Marine Corps to hold auditions for music enlistments

The Marines are looking for a few good musicians. Officials at Recruiting Station Northern New England will be holding auditions Aug. 8 to fill vacancies in the Marine Musician Enlistment Program. Under the program, young musicians ages 16 and older are invited to perform a free, no obligation audition.

Once selected for the program, the musician will attend a series of challenging and rewarding schools, culminating in the School of Music. This school is an accredited institution devoted to the training of military musicians. Upon graduation from the school, Marines are promoted and serve with bands located at major commands throughout the Marine Corps.

For more information or to schedule a free, no-obligation appointment, call the local Marine representative. He's in the white pages under "United States Government," or call 1-800-438-0890, collect.

1990 Forestry Field Day planned in West Bethel

The Western Maine chapter of the Small Woodland Owners Association of Maine, and the University of Maine Cooperative Extension, are sponsoring their annual Forestry Field Day, to be held Saturday, Aug. 18, in West Bethel at the woodland site of Ernest and Alberta Angevine.

The theme of this year's field day will be Woodland Management Plans. Registration will be from 8-9 a.m., and there will be an opportunity to observe a forestry equipment demonstration. Lunch will be served by a local Scout group for a small fee.

Consulting forester Fred Huntress will welcome the group and begin a discussion of woodland management plans. Ernest Angevine will present a brief history of his tree farm and share the goals he and his family based their management plans upon. Brian Milligan, forester for Boise Cascade, will discuss how he worked with the family's goals to develop them into a comprehensive management plan.

Topics to be covered in management plan discussions will include: forest inventory; typing species; boundary work; plotting for measurement; and working with woodland maps.

University of Maine Cooperative Extension Forestry Specialist Bud Blumentstock will present a forestry water quality display.

For the remainder of the morning, participants will break into small groups for a tree farm tour. The tour will include observations of a soil test area; a five- and 16-year thinning harvest; biomass thinning in 1988; a mature stand selectively cut, with natural regeneration and need of hardwood sprout control; and thinning in thick stand with superb natural regeneration.

During lunch break, there will be another opportunity to observe the forestry equipment demonstration.

Beginning at 1:30 p.m., the group will depart for a woodland tour of a Boise Cascade tree farm to observe a woodlot fertilized in 1984 with paper mill sludge. Peter Coleman of Buckfield Resource Conservation Service will lead a discussion of paper mill sludge spreading.

The Ernest and Alberta Angevine tree farm is located in Northwest Bethel. From Bethel, follow Route 2 towards Rumford and take the first left beyond the Androscoggin River bridge and follow the Forestry Field Day signs. The program is free and open to the public.

Workshop set on grafting fruit trees

A workshop on grafting fruit trees is being offered by Bolster's Mills orchardist George Stilphen.

The workshop will be held on Saturday, Aug. 11, at 9 a.m. at the Stilphen Farm in Bolster's Mills.

Participants will get hands-on experience on bud, whip and bark grafting techniques and strategies and will receive an Extension bulletin on grafting.

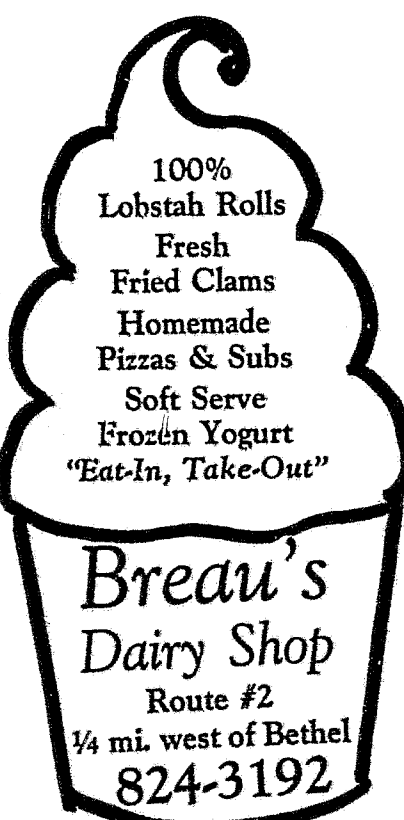

Please call the Oxford County Extension Office, 743-6329, to register for this workshop and for directions to the Stilphen Farm. There is no charge for this workshop.

NANCY M. HERRICK
 Nancy M. Herrick, 61, died Monday, July 23, 1990, at her residence on High Street in West Paris.

She was born at Norway, Jan. 19, 1929, the daughter of Archie McAllister and Doris McAllister. She attended Norway area schools and graduated from Norway High School in 1947. She was employed by Perham's of Maine in West Paris. She lived in West Paris for 30 years, having moved there from Norway. She married Charles Herrick on April 10, 1953.

Surviving are her husband of West Paris; a son, Gary Herrick of Chesapeake, Va.; a daughter, Charlene Herrick of West Paris; a brother, Warren McAllister of Tampa, Fla.; four sisters, Barbara Parr of West Paris, Joanne Cooper of Buckfield, Flor Thayer of Norway, and Florence Lawrence of Auburn; two grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held on Wednesday, July 25, at Andrews Funeral Home in South Woodstock. Donations may be made in her memory to the Tri-Town Rescue, Box 275, West Paris, Me., 04289.

ROGER REYNOLDS
 Roger Reynolds "Ole Manny" Reynolds of Sonoma, Calif., a woodsman, shipbuilder, watch maker and machinist, died Saturday, July 18, 1990 at his home. He was 78.

Mr. Reynolds was a native of Bethel. He had worked as a big game guide and game warden and, during World War II, as a shipbuilder for Bath Iron Works.

He had built homes in California and Alaska and had been a watch maker, jeweler and machinist in various areas. He owned his own motor repair shop in Sonoma, Calif., where he lived for the past 25 years, until his retirement about 15 years ago.

Mr. Reynolds was a 32-degree Mason in Maine and a member of the International Order of Odd Fellows in San Jose.

He is survived by three daughters, Babs Reynolds, Carolyn Casebeer and Brenda Tolman, all of Whittier, Ala.; a brother, Reilly Reynolds of San Jose, Calif.; six grandchildren, Richard Casebeer, Bobby Casebeer and Lisa Gage of California and Shawn Tolman of Alaska; four great-grandchildren; a nephew, George Reynolds of San Jose, Calif.; two nieces, Sandra Reynolds of California and Julie Daye of Bethel; and his friend and companion, cousin Hope Perkins.

Even in the absence of this kind of tragedy, we are brought face to face with the truth that the New Testament, Letter of James declares: "What is your life? It is even a vapor that appears for a little time and then vanishes away" (James 4:14).

We see it happen so vividly right before our very eyes... grandfather and grandmother pass away... dad and mom take their place... and the little children soon marry and raise their own family. Like the ocean waves which are destined to end their journey as they splash upon the rocks, so it is with the rolling away of another generation.

It has been said that college students are among the most idealistic people around. They are young, full of vision and energy, to fulfill those dreams. As they look forward to many years of productive living, they leave college and embark upon this journey to adult life.

Is this the echo of your heart today? At this stage? Yet, within 20 years they have gray hair and their youth has been spent. Anxiety begins to fill the heart of one who is unsure of his or her destiny beyond the grave. In fact, Scripture describes this very concept as "the sting of death" (1 Corinthians, 15:55). It is a terrifying fear of the unknown.

Is this the echo of your heart today? Amidst the fear, the confusion, the uncertainty of this age and society that we live in, you can find a deep and abiding peace in the person of Jesus Christ. All of time, every one of our calendars revolve around him—B.C.... Before Christ; A.D.... the year of our Lord. His resurrection from the dead is one of the best established historical facts.

Dr. Simon Greenleaf, was a great lawyer and professor of law who put Harvard Law School on the map. He wrote the three-volume work on the Laws of Legal Evidence used in the courts to determine evidence and facts.

Dr. Greenleaf was a skeptic who did not believe in Jesus Christ. His students challenged him to apply his Laws of Legal Evidence to the resurrection of Jesus of Nazareth and Dr. Greenleaf became a Christian in the process, verifying this historical event.

Jesus Christ lived, died and rose from the dead. His life was likened to spotless Lamb in the Old Testament, book of Isaiah, chapter 53, verse 6 and 7. "All we like sheep have gone astray; We have turned, everyone to his own way; And the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all... He was led as a lamb to the slaughter."

His death was the sacrificial atonement which paid the penalty for the sins of every person. No longer do we have to remain in the shackles of sin, tormented by the thought dying without hope. We can have forgiveness for our sinful and selfish lives. We can have peace with God through believing in the Lord Jesus Christ. Then we will no longer be apprehensive of the brevity of life. Then the destiny of our life's journey will be assured. Our eternity will be spent in the presence of our God and Creator. Then we will be able to say with the Apostle Paul: "Death is swallowed up in victory. O death where is your sting?"

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study
 The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words, comfort and help for your daily life.

Time, Travel and Destiny:
 The words of Jim Croche: "I could put time in a bottle... I have made many people ponder about the actual brevity of life. Though medical science has made giant strides in extending the average life-span of men and women, we are still struck by the powerlessness of human beings to control their journey on this planet."

The first funeral I conducted as a pastor was last November. Adam was just a little, baby boy about four months old. As he lay in the tiny white coffin with a winter snow cap on his head and a teddy bear in his arm, two things surfaced in my heart as I look at this child. The first was compassion for his parents who were experiencing the penetrating pain of acute grief. The second was a awakening to how quick a life can come to an end.

Even in the absence of this kind of tragedy, we are brought face to face with the truth that the New Testament, Letter of James declares: "What is your life? It is even a vapor that appears for a little time and then vanishes away" (James 4:14).

We see it happen so vividly right before our very eyes... grandfather and grandmother pass away... dad and mom take their place... and the little children soon marry and raise their own family. Jesus Christ lived, died and rose from the dead. His life was likened to spotless Lamb in the Old Testament, book of Isaiah, chapter 53, verse 6 and 7. "All we like sheep have gone astray; We have turned, everyone to his own way; And the Lord has laid on him the iniquity of us all... He was led as a lamb to the slaughter."

His death was the sacrificial atonement which paid the penalty for the sins of every person. No longer do we have to remain in the shackles of sin, tormented by the thought dying without hope. We can have forgiveness for our sinful and selfish lives. We can have peace with God through believing in the Lord Jesus Christ. Then we will no longer be apprehensive of the brevity of life. Then the destiny of our life's journey will be assured. Our eternity will be spent in the presence of our God and Creator. Then we will be able to say with the Apostle Paul: "Death is swallowed up in victory. O death where is your sting?"

REAL ESTATE FORECLOSURE AUCTION 90-111 TEN CONDOMINIUMS - TWO SITES
 RE: EDEN RIDGE
 ROUTE 35, BETHEL, MAINE
 SUNDAY, AUGUST 19, 1990 at 2 P.M.

Eden Ridge is a 52-home, planned-unit development, of which 40 units have been built to date. Of those 40 built units, 30 have been sold, and 10 remain. Eden Ridge is located on a hillside, just outside the Village of Bethel, in the heart of Maine's western lakes and mountain region. The site offers panoramic views of the surrounding mountains and countryside. The 1100± square foot Townhouse homes consist of two bedrooms, 1 1/2 baths, a kitchen, living room, dining room and one-car garage. Additional features include masonry fireplaces, washer and dryer hookups, whirlpool master baths, decks and patios, and storage areas on the entry level.

(Two) Completed Units - The model and a home complete except for appliances. Deposit to bid on choice of units: $7,500.00.

(Eight) Uncompleted Units - The interiors of these units have not been completed. Some units have been brought to the point of partitions with sheetrock, and others are constructed to the studded wall stage only. These units will be sold as-is with the purchaser completing the construction. Deposits to bid on choice of units: $5,000.00.

(Two) Sites - designed for 6 units each. To be sold together as a package. Deposit to bid on sites: $1,000.00.

Entirety - Deposit to bid on all (Ten) Units and (Two) Sites: $56,000.00.

TERMS - Above deposits in CASH or CERTIFIED U.S. FUNDS made payable to the Keenan Auction Company (deposited with Auctioneer as a qualification to bid) with the balance due and payable in 26 days upon presentation of Deed. For a Buyer's Prospectus containing legal and bidding information, please contact C. Susan Mason at CSM Real Estate at (207) 265-4000.

OPEN HOUSE DATES: Sunday, Aug. 5, 1990; Friday, Aug. 10, 1990; Saturday, Aug. 11, 1990; Sunday, Aug. 12, 1990; Friday, Aug. 17, 1990; Saturday, Aug. 18, 1990 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.
